BA in Communication Management

48 units

The communication management major (https://www.apu.edu/comm/programs/communication-major/) is an interdisciplinary, "next-level" degree program that trains students for promotion, management, and leadership. This degree program equips graduates with many skills needed for promotion and leadership in a variety of fields, such as business, health care, government, hospitality, and more. Communication management graduates are equipped in foundational theory and with expertise in conflict management, small-group decision-making and facilitation, understanding organizational cultures and functioning, relational communication, persuasion and social influence, intercultural communication, and much more.

Career Opportunities

To prepare for career opportunities, students are required to complete a 3-unit communication internship prior to graduation. Communication management graduates often work as:

- Managers and organizational leaders
- Communication training and development specialists
- · Strategic communication (including social media) specialists
- Human resource officers
- · Corporate or personal event planners
- Customer relations managers
- · Sales representatives
- Higher education administrators
- Student development professionals
- · Ministry leaders in churches or nonprofits
- Marriage and family counselors
- Entrepreneurs
